Executive Committee Meeting Minutes

March 3, 2023

Approval of February Minutes and March Agenda

- Jenna Mitchler moved to approve the February minutes, and Andria Blade seconded. Minutes approved.
- Tonya Allen motioned to approve the March agenda with a slight correction to the months, and Krista Phillips seconded. Agenda approved.

Business Updates

- 2023-2024 Co-Chair
 - Laura LaCroix-Dalluhn shared that Angela Watts agreed to Co-Chair the collaborative along with Pat Dale. We will announce this in the March newsletter and vote on it in the March governance meeting.
- Family Coordinator position
 - Second round interviews next week with Laura, Jocelyn, and Asad. We would also like a member of the Executive team also present at the interviews. The second round interviews are taking place March 6th at 2 pm and 3 pm, March 7th at 9:30 am, and March 10th at 3 pm. Andria said she was available on March 6th for both times, Pat said he could do March 7th, and Cheryl Holm-Hansen said she could do March 10th.
- Youth mental health first aid trainers and training
 - Laura shared that we are still on track to have 4-5 trainers trained and have identified other stakeholders who have been trained. Change Inc. will do all the coordination for the training. People who have done the training have shared that the training is heavily focused on facilitation but lighter on the youth mental health perspectives. We are discussing offering an additional trauma-informed youth mental health portion to go a little deeper before doing the training. We have also discussed giving a stipend to those who do the training and are not paid by their employers. We have two parents who have stepped forward, Maria Tripney and Danielle Tucker. When people are training, the goal is to have a parallel process of recruitment to get youth-serving organizations aware of the opportunity so we can get a jump start in second quarter. Laura suggested we turn our attention to school staff during quarters three and four and/or other community partners.
 - Krista asked how this training was offered, one day or two. Laura answered that it can be completed in one day or two and can be partially remote. Cheryl asked if we want to build in some evaluation of this training, Laura said she will bring Cheryl into one of the next meetings to discuss this further. Jenna added that in her work, chemical health has been a large concern and she loves the idea of connecting chemical and mental health. Tonya shared that one challenge of this training is they prefer to have a big session delivered all at once rather than over many days. Tonya will connect Laura with Brenna to discuss this further.

- PCLG updates
 - Margaret Sullivan shared that Let's Talk About It is scheduled on April 5th and focused on School Avoidance. Other upcoming events will focus on American Indian Mental Wellness and Cultural Wellness, these will be hybrid events.
 - We have new members and some potential new members. Overall, Margaret said they are hearing isolation is a big issue.

Finalize 2023 DRAFT Work Plan, Discuss Collaborative Capacity and Budget Amendments

- Review the revised 2023 work plan with recommended changes and questions from Governance and Coordination Teams, and Review and discuss leveraging or adopting the 2022 workgroup proposals and recommendations
 - Laura shared that the coordination team reviews the feedback from the governance committee and made updates. One of the questions we have on our first goal is how do we work with professionals to hear the impact of what parents are experiencing, how do we integrate family voice, and can the collaborative assist their efforts?
 - Cindy Slowiak shared that the workforce is so overwhelmed that it may not be best to utilize them as the access point. Margaret shared she is hearing the same things from parents. Cheryl shared she feels that a lot of what parents are asking for does not increase workload. Cindy suggested having a panel of parents talk to a group of our case managers about their experiences. Laura asked how providers are currently doing this and if the strategies we are discussing feel helpful or if are they already doing this. Pat shared that there are some systems in place that are doing really well in engaging parents and that part of this is threading the needle, and asked if there is there anything that helps organizations check themselves against the standard of responding to parent voices. Cheryl said that are processes that evaluate it. Cindy asked if there was a way we could start with one group, like case management, and pilot this. Pat shared that we really just need to be supportive, he feels people feel heard when they get what they want, we cannot always do that but we need to do everything we can to be responsive to parents' needs.
 - Krista suggested we invite providers and community stakeholders back together re-introduce system of care to them and provide an update on our progress. We had a lot of engagement, and wonders if this is an opportunity to do this again for the children's mental health community at large and take a deep dive in a way for organizations to look at themselves and see how they can grow in parents responsiveness.
 - Laura asked for feedback on which strategy (parent driven strategies pilot or community event) we have the capacity to do and if there is a preference, Cindy shared she would love to do both but she is unsure of what we would need to do it at a large scale. Pat shared that at a minimum we should share parent feedback that we already have with providers and organizations. Margaret suggested sharing quick videos with direct quotes from parents with providers so it has more of an emotional impact. Pat shared that he feels we should bring this to the governance committee to discuss what our capacity is and what our priorities should be. Laura shared that she feels it would be feasible to do the convening again, we would just need to identify a speaker, and possibly do a kickoff and pilot it with case managers. This would include updating the community on system of care, focusing on parent engagement and parent voice, and starting pilots with integrating parent voice.

- Strategy 2, increasing access to mental health literacy for youth.
 - Laura shared that was a conversation about not doing this because of capacity and wanted to discuss if we still think this is a priority. Krista shared that she feels we may not have the capacity, especially if we cannot get the information soon. Laura said we could know pretty quickly if we could do this from our youth-serving organizations. Laura will do some research on the long-term costs of supporting this work and what we would need to do this, then we will decide if it is still a priority.
 - Laura then discussed expanding navigational support for parents, our journey mapping showed that families need this, we will update our website with more navigational support and we will make a plan on how will we expand it. Pat asked if we knew where we would get funding for this, Laura shared there are a number of bills out there to increase support for families and she feels there may be future funding we can tap into and we will likely want to contract with a community partner to do this. The new family coordinator may also aid in navigational support.
 - Laura then brought up Cheryl's idea, the possibility of creating a community response team for violence in schools. Cheryl shared that there are a lot of resources out there and this would focus on building on those resources and it would be a comprehensive plan on how to address the mental health needs of students and staff long-term. Krista asked for clarification, would this be similar to a toolkit or actual staff that go out and address the crisis? Cheryl answered that hopefully, it would be both. Cindy shared she feels this is a really good idea, and suggested we talk with natural disaster or emergency management teams for help with some of the planning, Laura suggested connecting with the Safe Communities team, and Cindy said she will reach out to the director.
- Discuss budget amendments and timelines to secure changes
 - Laura shared that we will need to do a budget revision for 2023. There are few changes to the SAMHSA grant and we may need to shift funds for parent engagement and community partners funding, including direct teen mental health first aid if we pursue.
 - Laura asked Cindy how best to manage the SAMSHA grant and Cindy said they should meet separately and discuss before bringing before making changes.
- Recommend final work plan and budget to Governance Committee
 - We will bring this plan forward for the governance committee and talk about responsiveness to parent voice.

Adjournment

- Krista moved to adjourn, and Andria seconded. Meeting adjourned.
